The Saint Paul Police Department Professional Development Institute is hosting "Preventing and Reducing Elderly Victimization" by International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP).

The rapid growth of the senior population in the United States will require more calls for service from law enforcement. Whether they are victims or witnesses, many older adults have special needs and issues that every officer should be prepared to address. As a compliment to any community oriented or crime prevention program, this course prepares law enforcement personnel to face an aging society. It expands attendees' communication and investigative skills, and provides the background knowledge necessary to instruct officers, civilians and volunteers on the various aspects of assisting the elderly.
